

East/West Calligraphy Workshop

Mercy Center, Burlingame, CA

August 1-7, 2022

Monica Dengo, Master Western Calligrapher

Kazuaki Tanahashi, Master East Asian Calligrapher

Monica & Kaz discuss the schedule

For more information about Monica go to monicadengo.com. For more information about Kaz go to brushmind.net.

For the first time the East/West Calligraphy Workshop moves west from Venezia to the California coast. Once again these two master calligraphers team up for this extraordinary workshop, where they not only teach their traditional art but learn the tradition of each other. Practitioners of either or both traditions are welcome, but no previous experience is necessary to attend. Instruction will be given in English.

Studio space at Mercy Center

During the week you will be immersed in the practice of each tradition, learn about the history of each tradition, the process of wet mounting the mulberry paper used in East Asian calligraphy and making a book of your artwork created during the week.

Mercy Center is just south of San Francisco, one of the most beautiful cities on the California coast. The center is an oasis in the midst of its urban surroundings; just 15 minutes from the San Francisco airport.

East/West participants 2021

To sign up please contact Christine zen-brush@yahoo.com to be placed on the list. Cost of the workshop is $1700 all inclusive of lodging, meals, materials and instruction. Workshop fees are due by May 1st. The workshop is limited to 23 participants. To ensure accurate communication it would be helpful to make your email communication in English.
